

True Volunteer Foundation

Become a Corporate Sponsor

Who is the True Volunteer Foundation (TVF)?

TVF supports the corporate sector in fulfilling its Corporate Social Responsibility objectives. The broader acceptance of philanthropy means that simply writing a cheque to a local charity is no longer deemed acceptable for many companies. Many Boards and industry standards (i.e. ISO 9001 2040) now expect a robust corporate giving strategy with structured processes and measured deliverables.

Why are their principles unique?

The Foundation is run by True Volunteers™ who agree to Pay to Work™. This means no wages, commissions or administration costs can be deducted from any funding received. As a result, TVF provides a service to its sponsors and small charities with a cost base of approximately £1,000 per annum. TVF's objectives are not commercial but charitable in nature and each new project undertaken has a direct cost implication to its members.

What are the benefits of working with the TVF?

TVF can support a Corporate Social Responsibility strategy effectively at zero cost. An experienced team effectively pays for the privilege to provide a groundbreaking charitable service to the corporate sector and high net worth individuals. Donors or employees can become involved in a project and have free access to visit the project anytime.

How can I get in touch?
